I Did Nothing Today

Author Unknown

I have nothing more to do at the end of the day,

The only thing to do is to play with me to play is "I did nothing today!"

And the answer is "I did nothing today!"

"Today, I did nothing today!"

Maybe "nothing" means that I read a book, with a teacher I get to read,

Maybe I painted a picture of trees,

Or read a story to know that trees,

Maybe I wrote in my journal about,

Or found a job to do at the library desk,

Maybe I helped a friend with,

Or went to see friends and family,

Maybe today was the first time,

That my answer followed a long time ago,

Maybe I was a song right to the end,

Or worked with a special friend or friend,

When you're done, that's the time when you stop,

And "nothing" was never so easy to say!

A LETTER FROM THE DIRECTOR

It was great to see so many families at Family Fun Night. October will have leaves changing color and needing a jacket to play outside. Our new wood stumps will be moved all over the playground. We will also be having conferences and book fair on October 12th. The end of the month will be the Halloween parade and sing along. Marie
